

University of Bridgeport

Senior Prom

Patterson Club Fairfield, Conn.

May 29, 1950

CLASS OFFICERS

President	Edward G. Kost
Vice President	Lee A. Broadwin
Secretary-Treasurer	Robert O. Paulson
Class Adviser	John W. Kearns

Music by

GUY MASELLA

Senior Prom Committee

EDWARD KOST, Chairman

Lee Broadwin	Donald Mills
Robert Paulson	Clinton I. Hoysradt
John Azar	Frank Ramunni
Arthur Anderson	Joseph Bodnar
Walter Casey	Robert McDowell

Host and Hostess, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kearns

TO THE CLASS OF 1950:

As a river flows from its tributaries, so the mass strength of a college class grows as graduation approaches and each graduate goes his own way, still of the mother body, yet apart from it. The class of 1950 can look in retrospect to its milestones, starting with its first convocation, when for the first time James H. Halsey stood before us not as acting president but as president. Eight months later the Junior College of Connecticut received a new charter and we 1950's became part of the University of Bridgeport.

We were highly instrumental in forming a student government, social fraternities, football team, weekly campus newspaper, and other "firsts" that in the years to come will establish us as a class of leaders. In return, the University has left its indelible mark upon us. "There is no royal road to knowledge," our senior dean aptly charged at a freshman convocation, and we traveled a bumpy road. We are here tonight not by accident but as the product of an educational system tempered in the fire of our own ambition and accomplishment.

CLINTON I. HOYSRADT

University of Bridgeport

Senior Prom

Patterson Club Fairfield, Conn.

May 29, 1950